CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 1 NAME

The name of the day care will be Childspace Day Care (the “Corporation”). Pat Costello searched for a name, which would encompass our aims and philosophy. A child’s space is very important – room for him/her to grow and learn. It also denotes respect for the child’s space – allowing him/her their individuality in the way they perceive their world and how they interact with it. The name can also be read as the child’s pace – the speed at which each individual develops and interacts with the world. Childspace is a place where Early Childhood Educators set up, indirectly, a space where stimulation and learning can occur, for example, through the arrangement of the room, the equipment layout and the inviting learning centres.

ARTICLE 2 DESCRIPTION

This Corporation is non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political, non-denominational, founded by Pat Costello and governed by a community/parent board of directors (the “Board”). No part of its earnings shall enure to the benefit of any member or individual. All funds earned by the Corporation shall be reinvested in the Corporation. The Corporation’s purpose is to provide day care, which will reflect the needs of the parents, children and the community. Our Corporation has adopted a policy that we are an organization of equal opportunity and do not unfairly discriminate in our services and/or employment on the basis of race, ancestry, place of origin, ethnic origin, culture, citizenship, religion, creed, colour, gender, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity, marital status, same sex partners, family status, age, economic status, record of offences, or physical/mental ability and appearance.

ARTICLE 3 PHILOSOPHY

To plan for any curriculum, we must begin with a basic knowledge of how young children grow, develop and learn. As Early Childhood Educators, we recognize that children learn best under the following conditions:

1. When they have a good self-image and are warmly accepted as they are by both adults and other children;
2. If given repeated opportunities to discover, explore, be challenged, be creative and to problem-solve through direct experiences;
3. When given diverse choices of play to internalize that choice and its consequences that can lead a child to independence, self-confidence, self-esteem, self-control and a sense of responsibility;

4. Following the children's lead and by capitalizing on the children's natural curiosity and exuberance;
5. Through a rich environment that considers their total development and each one's individual needs and interests;
6. When supervised by teachers who protect and ensure each child's rights without sacrificing any individual child's right of the freedom to learn;
7. Recognition that for all people learning is a lifetime experience and
8. A child's learning is fostered when we include: the family, day care teachers, school teachers, public health and all other community partners.

In order to provide a rich, diverse and secure environment, keeping in mind the child's interest, we must provide and allow for a balance of activities: structured / unstructured, information / creative, active / quite, indoor / outdoor, observing / participating, and alone / in a group.

ARTICLE 4 AIMS

The aims of the Corporation are as follows:

401

1. That we develop the child in all ways, to achieve as fully as possible intellectually, emotionally, socially, physically and creatively through play.
2. That we are aware of the stages of development of the group and the individual within the group.
3. That we have a safe and clean place for the children. For their safety, areas are checked by staff before children enter. Also a fire drill is practiced monthly. All our staff are knowledgeable of applicable health regulations and ensure we have a clean day care.
4. That we follow the Canadian Food Plan in preparing interesting, varied and healthy foods for our hot meals and snacks.
5. That we have a positive approach to the program and expand the child's concept of time by placing emphasis on the task beginning and completion.
6. That we plan space properly to promote this learning and develop the child's ability to complete tasks and achieve satisfaction.

7. That for optimum creative development, the teacher-directed portion of the program is kept to the minimum and the material in the room is designed in such a way that the child-can think of all possible options for experimenting and learning as he or she plays.
8. That communication between teacher – child – parent – Board – Director – Supervisor – Assistant Supervisor – is wide open.

ARTICLE 5 ENROLLMENT

- 501 Enrollment is open to any child, provided the daycare can meet the needs of that child with the present program and staff.
- 502 Enrollment shall be granted without discrimination. (See Article 2 of the Constitution)
